Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Sunday 30 May 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Most areas fine, warm and dry today and tomorrow.

Today:
Fine and dry with plenty of warm sunshine for most. Some eastern parts of Scotland and England will start cloudy, but this cloud will retreat back to North Sea coastal areas where it may linger in some spots all day.

Tonight:
A fine evening followed by a dry night with clear periods. Evening cloud in some North Sea coastal areas will spread inland into eastern counties and parts of the Midlands.

Monday:
Dry with plenty of warm sunshine for most, early cloud over parts of England and Scotland soon retreating back to North Sea coastal areas where it may linger all day.

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
Very warm and sunny Tuesday. Thundery showers spreading from the southwest on Wednesday, remaining very warm to the northeast of this. Cooler Thursday with sunny spells and a few showers.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.